

Methow Arts Presents

Poetry and Soup with

Glenis Redmond

At Cinnamon Twisp Bakery

Friday, October 16, 6pm

$15 adults, $5 students

Methow Arts: 997-4004

Winner of the Southern Fried Poetry Slam and other significant accolades, Glenis Redmond is a captivating, energetic and passionate performance poet. Steeped in Afro-Carolinian roots, she speaks a universal tongue of love, loss, celebration, sorrow and hope. Her verse uplifts family, culture and community.

Glenis is a gentle pen pusher as she encourages others at diverse venues across the country; her poems soothe, illicit and inspire others to pick up their pen and travel their own poetic road. Glenis is a teaching artist with the Kennedy Center's Partnership in Education Program in Washington, D.C. and will be visiting Okanogan County Schools October 12-15.

Glenis Redmond will spend a week touring Okanogan region schools through Methow Arts' Education Partnership October 12-16 and will offer two evening workshops described below. She will perform at the Cinnamon Twisp Bakery in Twisp on Friday, October 16 at 6pm. Call or email for info: Methow Arts 997.4004, info@MethowArtsAlliance.org

Public Workshops:

- Monday October 12, Confluence Gallery, Twisp 7-9pm
- Wednesday October 15, Omak Library, 6-8pm

Everyone is welcome to attend, $10-20 suggested donation, students are free. Students encouraged to attend- teachers may consider offering extra credit to encourage students to take advantage of this opportunity.

Workshop for Teachers and Teaching Artists "Poetry off the Page":

- Tuesday, October 13, 4:30-8pm at the Breadline, Omak

Glenis offers a professional development institute which is open to all middle and high school teachers and teaching artists in the region. Dinner available for purchase. Advance registration required. Call Molly 509.997.4004. $25/pp for class + $10 for 3 clock hours